Please provide photos of your facility, including shelter, barn, stalls, fencing and turnout areas. This includes the boarding facility, if you choose to board your adopted horse.

Understand that owning an off-track Thoroughbred is much different from owning any other breed of horse. They come with physical issues, personality quirks, and behavioral challenges. The majority of these horses are coming directly off the track and need adequate time and space to adjust to a "normal" life. If you are expecting a horse who is sound, sane, and ready for your child to ride we suggest looking at another program. However, if you are looking for a partner with athleticism, heart, and personality than we may have the right horse for you.

Please apply only after considering your current and future financial/time obligations and responsibilities

By signing below, you understand that these are off-the-track Thoroughbreds and will need an experienced handler and appropriate facilities to accommodate their transition away from the track. You also understand that these horses, while perhaps after retraining are well-behaved, are not an appropriate choice for children.
